STRATEGIC PLAN FOR HEALTH, SAFETY AND CARE

2007 - 2010
Since the launch of the first Strategic Plan for Health, Safety & Care, 2003-2008, Falkirk Council has actively worked towards implementing measures to encourage improvements in the health, safety and wellbeing of our employees and others. Over recent years we have achieved a number of successes and improvements in the way we manage our legislative obligations. These include:

- Health & Safety training for every manager which was tailored to suit their specific working environments;
- Development and implementation of a Gas Management framework;
- Development and implementation of a Stress Risk Assessment Toolkit for use in Services to help tackle workplace issues relating to stress and anxiety;
- Extended rollout of Health Promotion events throughout Services.

In recognition of our health, safety & care initiatives, Falkirk Council has recently achieved Gold status in the Scottish Government’s new “Healthy Working Lives Award”. This award replaces the “Scotland’s Health at Work (SHAW)” award and is designed to encourage employers to implement initiatives to improve the health and wellbeing of their employees.

In my role as Chief Executive, I am fully aware of the need to continue to strive to ensure that Falkirk Council leads by example in terms of enabling our employees and citizens to live healthily and safely whilst also encouraging them to improve their own health and wellbeing. Legislation relating to health, safety & care is constantly changing at a national level which in turn impacts on our business. The Fire Regulations 2006, Noise and Vibration legislation and the Corporate Homicide bill will have a significant impact on our future work. The aims and objectives in this strategic plan reflect this.

Nationally, there is likely to be more co-ordination in health, safety and care matters and in particular, preventing workplace ill health and injury. With this in mind it is the Council’s intention over the next three years to:

- achieve the “Healthy Working Lives Mental Health and Wellbeing Commendation Award”,
- continue to ensure the application of Risk Management by Risk Assessment;
- increase participation in creating a safer working environment and safer community for our employees and citizens alike.

As Chief Executive of Falkirk Council I will reinforce the requirement for Directors to ensure, as far as is reasonably possible, that the necessary support and resources are available to ensure that employees and others affected by our work are able to remain safe and healthy, particularly within their working environment.

The purpose of this strategic document is to set out what Falkirk Council aims to achieve in terms of Health, Safety & Care throughout 2007-2010. As with the previous plan, it focuses on areas of current priority in regard to Health, Safety & Care and it complements other Falkirk Council Strategic Plans including the Strategic Community Plan and the Local Health Plan. Nationally, in support of UK Government, Scottish Government and Health & Safety Commission (HSC) Strategies, a Health & Safety Action Plan has been developed to promote high standards of health & safety within all workplaces, large and small, across all sectors. Accordingly, local authorities are expected to work in partnership to deliver the aims of these strategies, in particular, via the Healthy Working Lives initiative. Our vision for the next three years therefore reflects and complements the aims of the Action Plan and associated strategies as well as legislation.

Falkirk Council has responsibility for ensuring that all Health, Safety & Care related requirements within its workplaces and public offices are adhered to, and the Council will continue to seek ways to improve performance in these areas.

Our vision for Health Safety & Care remains the same. This is, to have:

- safe systems of working practice in place which are consistently implemented across Services;
- appropriate management systems in place which protect and support our employees;
- appropriate systems and processes in place which pro-actively manage sickness absence and workplace accidents/incidents.
- a workforce that is “healthy, happy and here”.

1. INTRODUCTION AND VISION
2. THEMES AND AIMS

To achieve our vision, there are four key strategic themes and aims that Falkirk Council will focus on during the next three years which reflect areas of current priority in terms of revitalising and raising the profile of Health, Safety and Care:

(i) Apply and achieve the criteria set in national strategies aimed at promoting good health;

(ii) Implement robust procedures/systems to ensure compliance with statutory and recommended targets set by the HSE, HSC, Scottish Government, Central Government & European Union across all disciplines and Services (including contractors);

(iii) The provision of health, safety & care information and training to ensure a competent workforce;

(iv) Effectively manage the Council’s assets and funds.
(i) Apply and achieve the criteria set in national strategies aimed at promoting good health

The HSC’s documents Revitalising Health and Safety, DETR June 2000 and Securing Health Together, HSC, 1999 continue to provide a framework for our health & safety activities.

Revitalising Health and Safety, DETR June 2000, states that, “Raising workplace standards will promote better public health and social progress which recognises the needs of everyone”.

Securing Health Together, HSC, 1999, states that “Better occupational health will benefit everyone”, and “If an individual’s health at work is improved, they will enjoy happier, longer and more fulfilled lives”.

Within these strategy documents, the Government and Health and Safety Commission indicated that Local Authorities should aim to achieve the following prescribed targets:

- Reduce the number of working days lost per 100,000 workers from work-related injury and ill health by 30% by 2010;
- Reduce the incidence rate of fatal and major injury accidents by 10% by 2010;
- Achieve half the improvement under each target by 2004.

Following a review of performance against the above strategies, in 2005, the HSC launched their “Strategy for workplace health and safety in Great Britain to 2010 and beyond”. The aim of this strategy is to promote their vision for the future, which is to have health and safety at work viewed as a cornerstone of a civilised society and gain recognition of the benefits of work to overall health and well-being.

In support of this, the HSE is actively encouraging organisations to develop pro-active occupational health strategies via their “Fit 3” Campaign.

The “Fit 3” programme focuses on ill health and injury reduction. It aims to deliver on the following 3 core areas:

- Injury reduction, e.g. slips, trips, falls, workplace transport and construction;
- Days-lost, e.g. absence management in public services and return to work/rehabilitation;
- Work-related ill-health reduction, e.g. stress, musculoskeletal disorders, disease reduction, noise and hand-arm vibration.

In 2007 the Scottish Government launched a new initiative to replace the workplace health promotion initiative “Scotland’s Health at Work (SHAW)”. This new initiative, “Healthy Working Lives”, now encompasses safety at work as well as health promotion. Falkirk Council achieved gold status in October 2007 making this Council one of the first organisations in Scotland to meet the complex requirements of this new award. The Healthy Working Lives Award reflects similar objectives to that of the HSC’s latest strategy and will provide a framework for our health, safety & care activities over the next three years.

Our Aim:

Our aim is to ensure that the Council continues to meet the criteria of the “Gold” level award in the Healthy Working Lives initiative whilst ensuring that the objectives of Securing Health Together and Revitalising Safety continue to be used as targets for achievement including a reduction in absence levels across the Council. In addition, we aim to achieve the “Healthy Working Lives Mental Health and Wellbeing Commendation Award” which will make Falkirk Council an enhanced Gold Award holder.

We will do this by:

- Developing and implementing a “Fit 3” action plan;
- Creating a portfolio of activities which demonstrate our commitment to promoting healthy working lives and which provide access to: “Work Life Balance” initiatives;
- Stress Risk Assessment & Stress Management initiatives;
- Physiotherapy services;
- A pro-active occupational health service and health surveillance programme;
- An Employee Counselling Service;
- A holistic range of personal development/improvement programmes;
- Active engagement with employees on health, safety & care issues;
- Tailored return to work fitness programmes.

In recognition of the Council’s progress in health promotion, the Council was joint winner of the large employer category of the BBC’s Big Challenge Health Award in 2006. Given our ongoing commitment to continuous improvement, and our aim to be cited as an authority that sets an example of excellence in this field, we will continue to strive to develop and expand our performance in health promotion.
(ii) Implement robust procedures/systems to ensure compliance with statutory & recommended targets set by the HSE, HSC, Scottish Government, Central Government & European Union (including contractors)

As previously stated, the HSC Strategy for “workplace health & safety in Great Britain to 2010 and beyond” promotes their vision for the future, which is to have health and safety at work viewed as a cornerstone of a civilised society and, with that, to achieve a record of workplace health and safety in this country that leads the world.

The HSC recognises that Britain’s role is commendable with fatal accidents reduced by over two thirds since the implementation of the Health and Safety at Work etc. Act 1974, but are aware that more still has to be done. Annual statistics for 2004/05 reported substantial progress on achieving both the working days lost and work related ill health targets reflecting little room for complacency as there was no change in the incidence of fatal or major injuries at work across Britain.

Falkirk Council will continue to work in partnership with external organisations, such as the Scottish Government, HSE, Forth Valley NHS and other Local Authorities via Cosla and the Society of Personnel Directors (SPDS). Where possible, we will share best practice, pool resources, skills and expertise with colleagues in other Local Authorities. In particular, we will work together on the targets contained within the HSE/SPDS Framework Document for health & safety.

Our Aim for the next three years is to:

- Demonstrate effective health and safety management;
- Act as an exemplar in health and safety management practice for others to follow;
- Pro-actively manage occupational health, safety & wellbeing;
- Ensure good health and safety practice is considered as a significant factor in supplies and services procurement decisions.

We will do this by:

- Consolidating the “cascade” approach to delegating responsibilities in regard to Health Safety & Care; each Service will be required to take a pro-active approach to the development of safe systems of work and employee care;
- Ensuring that Senior managers visibly demonstrate their commitment by leading and supporting this process across their Service;
- Ensuring that Services have an updated Health and Safety policy and implementation plan, linked to the SPDS Framework document, with key action points detailed and progress regularly reviewed by Senior Management;
- Ensuring that Services have adequate and effective monitoring systems and benchmark with similar organisations;
- Ensuring that Services review their performance by applying the key performance indicators listed:
  1. Assessment of the degree of compliance with statutory and organisational Health & Safety Systems;
  2. Identification of areas where there is a lack of or inadequate Health & Safety Systems and if further action is required, develop a total Health and Safety management system to resolve these issues;
  3. Review of progress and achievement against specific objectives and plans;
  4. Analysis of accident, ill health and incident data to identify immediate and underlying causes, trends and common features.
(iii) The provision of health, safety & care information and training to ensure a competent workforce.

New legislation recently introduced to improve safety for issues such as vibration at work and noise at work has had an impact on our systems of work. The Fire Safety Act 2005, which came into force in November 2006, has had a significant impact on how we undertake our responsibilities in terms of fire risk assessment. The proposed Culpable Homocide Bill, once approved, is likely to result in Director’s being held to account for any failures in systems of work for health & safety. It is therefore vital that adequate procedures are developed and implemented across Services to communicate with and train employees in their health & safety responsibilities. As legislation dictates changes in working practices, it is critical that employees understand the reasons for this and how it impacts on their duties and responsibilities. A well informed and diligent workforce is essential to ensure high levels of safety in the workplace which in turn leads to maximum productivity and good business practice.

Our Aim:

It is our aim to ensure that current Health & Safety practice is regularly reviewed by each Service and that Services adopt pro-active measures to ensure that existing systems are robust and that employees are trained to operate safely.

We will do this by:

- Ensuring that Services have systems in place to meet legislative requirements;
- Ensuring that employees are trained and competent to undertake the responsibilities of their post;
- Encouraging Services to review their existing arrangements for Health, Safety & Care and measure their effectiveness by:
  - Analysing trends in accident/incident and absence statistics & taking corrective action;
  - Undertaking sample audits of systems and procedures;
  - Undertaking sample inspections of premises.

It is critical that Services assign adequate resources to undertaking their responsibilities for health, safety & care given that efficiency in these areas also demonstrates a commitment to sound business organisation and practice.

(iv) Effectively manage the Council’s assets and funds

Local Authorities will always be under pressure from a variety of sources, for example, litigation claims and rising insurance costs. Falkirk Council will apply systems and procedures to ensure that effective control measures are in place to keep litigation claims and insurance claims to a minimum.

Our Aim:

It is our aim to continue to maximise the resources of Falkirk Council by encouraging Services’ to work towards achieving the objectives of the strategies outlined in this document.

We will do this by:

- Ensuring that Services are operating effectively by assessing and reviewing potential areas of risk/threat and planning for and implementing preventative strategies for potential risk and business continuity;
- Ensuring that opportunities to improve performance by the sharing of costs, knowledge and expertise along with scope for diversification are explored and sanctioned, where there will be a gain in performance or savings in expenditure;
- Ensuring that the Corporate Risk Management Group take a lead role in overseeing performance across Services in meeting the aims of health safety & care strategies and make recommendations for improvements and progress.
3. IMPLEMENTING THE STRATEGY

How we will achieve our aims:

It is important that Services recognise the importance of health, safety & care and how this is integral to their work. Health, safety & care is central to everything that we do and in order to achieve the above aims and to be fully confident that a cohesive approach to Managing health, safety & care and Risk Management is fully implemented across the Council all employees must acknowledge this and put this into practice. The Chief Executive, Corporate Risk Management Group, Corporate Management Team, all Employees and Trade Union representatives all have a role to play in the effective implementation of a healthy and safe working environment.

We will do this by:

- Continuing to support a corporate function designed to promote the health, safety and wellbeing of our employees;
- Regularly reviewing and discussing performance indicators and progress via the Corporate Risk Management Group and Corporate Management Team;
- Appointing an elected member to ‘champion’ health, safety & care and consulting with all elected members on health, safety & care matters at committee;
- Actively involving employees and Trade Unions in developing the Council’s commitment to health, safety and care strategies;
- Providing health & safety training for all employees, relevant to their role including regular refresher training and through the use of innovative methods of training such as e-learning packages.

Methodology

It is intended that within Falkirk Council, Health Safety & Care will be managed more effectively if responsibilities are delegated and structured on a de-centralised basis across all Services. The following diagram and supporting information details the strategic framework for the delegation of these responsibilities.

Employees Involved In Procurement

“It is now widely recognised that, just as organisations stand to benefit from improved productivity when they improve health and safety management systems, so procurers stand to secure better value for money when their contractors do the same”. (Revitalising Health and Safety, June 2000). It is therefore in our interests to ensure that employees who, because of the nature of their work, are required to be involved in the procurement of contracts, are responsible for:

- ensuring that suppliers of significant contracted services provide Falkirk Council with a copy of their Health & Safety Policy, Method Statements and Risk Assessments at the first stage of procurement;
- ensuring that articles and substances proposed for use have data/specification information guidelines provided to the procurement officer before the product is purchased. COSHH and CDM requirements must also be adhered to;

The individuals responsible for issuing the procurement of each contract should then appraise these documents for suitability and effectiveness, prior to issuing the contract;
- ensuring that consideration has been given to adequate safety requirements for the activities included in the Contract.
The Head of Human Resources, in consultation with the Corporate Management Team and Trade Unions, will review the Strategic Plan as appropriate.

A formal review of the Plan will be undertaken in three years.
