Falkirk Council

Register of Vacant and Derelict Land

2018
Purpose of the Register of Vacant and Derelict Land

1. This is a Register of sites within Falkirk Council area which are included in the Council’s annual return to the Scottish Government.

2. The Scottish Vacant and Derelict Land Survey (SVDLS) is an annual survey undertaken to establish the extent and state of vacant and derelict land in Scotland and the amount of land that has been reclaimed. The main purpose of the survey is to provide a national data source to inform the programming of the rehabilitation, planning and reuse of urban vacant and derelict sites.

3. The survey has been operating since 1988. The Scottish Government produces an annual bulletin which provides information at a local authority level. While the statistics provide a valuable insight into the national position, the information is of limited use at a local level.

4. This Register aims to provide more detailed information on individual sites in Falkirk Council area with a view to encouraging their re-use or development in accordance with development plan policy and other guidance.

Local Policy Context

5. The Falkirk Local Development Plan (LDP) was adopted during summer 2015. The LDP replaces the previous Structure Plan and Local Plan as a single document to guide the future use of land within the Council area.

6. The LDP notes that previously developed land can offer potential opportunities for new development which in turn can reduce the need to release greenfield sites as well as bringing about substantial environmental improvement. Policy RW10 (Vacant, Derelict, Unstable and Contaminated Land) supports proposals that reduce the incidence of such land subject to compliance with other LDP policies, particularly those relating to development in the countryside.

7. A further impetus to improving vacant and derelict sites is reflected in the Falkirk Greenspace Strategy which sets out a vision for managing vacant and derelict land where appropriate to enhance social, economic and environmental opportunities. The Council works with other partners including Central Scotland Green Network Trust (CSGNT) to further these aims.

Contents of the Register

8. The Register comprises information on sites, divided into geographical areas, and includes a plan, information on the physical characteristics of the site, ownership (where known), LDP status, constraints to development and recent planning history.

Definitions

The Scottish Government provide definitions which are summarised briefly as:

Vacant Land
Land within a settlement that has previously been developed, is not in use and must have a new use intended for it in the Local Plan/LDP or via a planning permission. It must be at least 0.1 hectares in size and have no physical impediments to development caused by a previous use.

Derelict Land
Land within and beyond settlements that has been previously developed, which will not be ready for development without rehabilitation, does not have usable buildings on it and which is at least 0.1 hectares in size.

Summary of the 2018 Survey

9. The amount of vacant and derelict land tends to fluctuate between surveys. The most significant reduction occurred between 2002 and 2009, when Falkirk recorded a decrease of 52%, the second highest reduction in Scotland. This was a time when many large former industrial sites were re-developed for other uses, principally housing. However in the last five years the amount of land in Falkirk which has been identified as vacant and derelict land has continued to increase by 48% between 2014 and 2018. During this period the most significant increase was between 2015 and 2016 and can be attributed to the identification of vacant and derelict land within the petrochemical operations at Grangemouth, and the identification of a large paper mill in Denny.

10. Currently, aside from Grangemouth the two largest derelict sites are at Whitecross (67.39ha) and Cannerton in Banknock (17.29ha), both of which are former brickworks sites and are identified for mixed use development in LDP1. There are significant areas of vacant land in Grangemouth associated with the docks and petrochemical operations, however because of the nature of the petrochemical companies’ operations, our information on vacant land (particularly site boundaries), is very limited, and so sites are not recorded within the survey. There are also isolated pockets of derelict land throughout the rural area, largely associated with former mineral workings.

Further Information and Updates

11. It is hoped that the Register will be of use to people and companies looking for development sites and other opportunities within the Falkirk Council area. Officers from Development Services will be pleased to discuss the planning merits of any potential development proposal. Please bear in mind that whilst the Council is keen to reduce the amount of unsightly land, any proposals that come forward must reflect the provisions of the LDP.

12. The Register will be updated annually when the SVDLS returns are sent to the Scottish Government. Whilst every effort is made to ensure the accuracy of information, it cannot always be guaranteed.

13. We welcome enquiries about sites in the Register and suggestions for future inclusions or deletions.
